WHY THIS PROGRAM

Almost everything we do in our corporate life can be considered as a project. Adding a project management certification to your list of credentials is a great way to benchmark your skills for potential employers and show that you have the know-how to plan, schedule, budget, execute, deliver and report on various initiatives.

The PMP signifies that you speak and understand the global language of project management and connects you to a community of professionals, organizations and experts worldwide.

According to the latest projections conducted by PMI®, the expanding job markets, increasing demand and improving GDP is going to spur the international growth of the project management profession. With increased implementation there is assurance of increase in the need for the right professionals with appropriate skills. Employers are seeking specific skills to deliver what the businesses need to compete and 40% of them will hire Project Managers in the next 12 months to keep up with the increasing projects.

CAREER PROSPECTS

- While Project Management experience is mandatory, there has been increased demand for certified PMP® certified candidates over non certified candidates when making an employment decision.
- The PMP® certification establishes a common language among project managers and helps each other work within a common framework.
- According to Dice, PMP® Certification is one of the top 5 in-demand certifications of 2013.
- PMPs today are leading projects in nearly every country and, unlike other certifications that focus on a particular geography or domain, the PMP® is truly global. As a PMP, you can work in virtually any industry, with any methodology and in any location.
- According to the latest projections conducted by PMI®, the expanding job markets, increasing demand and improving GDP is going to spur the international growth of the project management profession. With increased implementation there is assurance of increase in the need for the right professionals with appropriate skills. Employers are seeking specific skills to deliver what the businesses need to compete and 40% of them will hire Project Managers in the next 12 months to keep up with the increasing projects.
- PMI® reports that those with a Project Management Professional credential earn approximately 16-34% more than those without it.
